

international summer school

Discover

one of the top Latin American schools of management

Learn

using cutting edge methodologies

Expand

your professional network

Connect

with other students from Colombia and around the world

Enjoy

elective courses on trending topics

international summer school

Every summer, the School opens a six week program that offers challenging management courses taught in English by internationally renowned faculty from the best schools of management around the world, such as:

- Wharton (University of Pennsylvania)
- Babson College
- Cornell University
- INSEAD
- HEC Montreal
- University of Melbourne
- Duke University
- Kellogg School of Management
- IE Business School
- Fundação Getulio Vargas
- EGADE
- UC Berkeley
- Universidad de San Andrés

Since 2004, the International Summer School has offered more than 113 credit-granting courses across a wide range of topics. They are taught during June and July to undergraduate and graduate students, as well as Executive Education participants.

These courses offer a great opportunity for international students to advance knowledge in the most innovative management topics while experiencing Colombia's vibrant capital city: Bogotá.

Over the past ten years the International Summer School has received over 4,000 students from different nationalities. For the most recent edition (2015), 400 students participated in courses such as Social Media & Tribal Marketing, Behavioral Economics for Business, and Positive Leadership and Organization, among others.

The International Summer School at a glance

Who can participate?

Exchange program students, undergraduate and graduate students from Uniandes and other universities, as well as Executive Education participants.

How long is it?

Each course is 2 weeks long, delivered in daily 3-hour sessions Monday through Friday (during the evenings) and some Saturdays.

When does it take place?

Every year between June and July.

Course Topics (2004 – 2015)

Universidad de los Andes

Founded in 1948, Universidad de los Andes is a private, non-profit, independent institution that promotes pluralism, high quality education and multidisciplinary work.

RANKINGS 2015

- 262 in QS World University Rankings
- 7 in QS LatAm University Rankings
- 251 – 275 Times Higher Education World University Rankings
- 28 in Times Higher Education BRICS and Emerging Economies

+13,000
undergraduate students

+3,000
master
students

+400
Ph.D
students

668
Full-time faculty

9
schools

School of Management

- Founded in 1972.
- Recognized as one of the leading schools of management in Latin America.
- Strong focus on management education through the provision of leading academic and executive education programs.
- Broad programs portfolio at the undergraduate, graduate and executive education levels.
- Highly qualified, multidisciplinary faculty.
- Close ties with a wide variety of multinational and local organizations.

The only School in Colombia with triple international accreditation, joining less than 1% of business and management schools worldwide.

Explore life in one of Latin America's most vibrant capitals: Bogota, Colombia

- Bogota is a cosmopolitan, prosperous, up-and-coming city.
- It boasts a vibrant and diverse cultural and intellectual life and it's a 1-hour flight from tropical Cartagena and other destinations.
- There is a growing international community.
- With more than 100,000 companies in operation here (including over 150 multinationals), Bogota offers many work opportunities, as well as the possibility to connect with the country's top employers.

<http://administracion.uniandes.edu.co>

(+57 1) 332-41-44

@AdmonUniandes

/AdmonUniandes

